“A smile is your best accessory, and perfecting it all day, every day gives me satisfaction,” says Dr. Fabia Younus of Greater Houston Dental Arts. She loves what she does, and it shows with her enthusiasm and expertise.

“I love seeing the boost in confidence that we accomplish for a lot of patients just by the simple perfection of their smiles. It changes lives, really!” she adds.

A periodontist and an orthodontist by training, Dr. Younus completed her periodontal and dental implant training and master’s degree at Saint Louis University. This was followed by her orthodontics training and master’s degree at Columbia University in New York.

“I am a dual-specialist, a forte only a handful of dentists in the world have achieved. I am also a Diplomate of the American Board of Periodontology, which is the ultimate qualification in a dental specialty,” she shares.

“My clinical philosophy is to treat the entire mouth and the patient as a whole while respecting the periodontal envelope of teeth and achieving a stable bite which would improve the long-term health of the smile. It truly is a collaborative effort between the clinician and the patient,” adds Dr. Younus.

CREATING SMILES TO LAST A LIFETIME

Greater Houston Dental Arts opened its doors to the community in May 2020. Despite the pandemic, Dr. Younus felt fortunate that they had some of the most loyal and supportive patients. “We were truly blessed to be surrounded by so much encouragement from them.”

Dr. Younus creates smiles to last a lifetime. She is proud to be your Houston provider for advanced periodontal services, including gum grafts, bone grafts, frenectomies, esthetic crown lengthening, etc. She also offers gum disease treatment, dental implants, and orthodontic services, including braces and Invisalign.

“I see children as young as 3-4 years old, all the way up to 90+ years old. Some orthodontic treatments can achieve improvement in the airway and growth of jaws in children as young as 3-4 years old,” she says.

Best of all, she loves what she does. Dr. Younus comments, “I love meeting all kinds of people, and my profession allows me to do that all day, every day. I get to know my patients and their families personally, and they all become part of the Greater Houston Dental Arts family!”

CALMING ANXIOUS PATIENTS

Although some patients are anxious at the dentist, Dr. Younus and her compassionate staff help them realize that there is no reason to fear.

She explains, “Most patients who are anxious are due to a previous traumatic dental experience. We spend a good amount of time getting to know our patients and getting to the root of their anxiety, having them feel comfortable and confident in our office and our expertise.” Dr. Younus also offers sedation, with an anesthesiologist, for patients if they absolutely require it.

ADVICE FOR RESIDENTS

Dr. Younus has some advice for the residents of the community. She says, “Prevention and early diagnosis of the issues are the most important elements in healthcare as a whole, and it’s true for any dental disease. We always encourage patients to start early with dental visits so that we can prevent any future problems and be proactive in our dental care.”
